A post-mortem examination was held on the bodies in the palace at il o'clock this morning.

The local papers embellish their reports of the tragedy with all serts of extraordinary statements. According to one of them the bodies of the King and Queen were placed in shrouds and were low of them the bodies of the King and Queen were placed in shrouds and were low of the manner of the palace to the gardens, whence they were carried away in a baggage wagon.

The streets are thronged with people whose actions seem to approve the coun d'eat. M. Proties, feh new Minister of Interior, was loudly cheered as he drove to the ministry.

M. Avakumovics, the new premier, be longs to the independent Liberal party. As the morning advanced the excitement in the streets grew steadily. In spite of the pouring rain thousands of people gathered in the wicinity of the palace. Everywhere troops of all arms were posted and field guins were placed in positions to deal quickly with any oposition to the newly-formed government's will. The soldiera discarded their cockades bearing the late King Alexander's eigher and substituted for it flowers, green twings and leaves.

the late King Alexander's cipher and substituted for it' flowers, green twings and leaves.

Bands of young men paraded the streets waving flags and shouting. "Long live Karageorgevitch!" Flags are flying from nearly every house in Belgrade, and there is absolutely no display whatever of crepe or other signs of mourning.

The royal standard has been lowered from over the palace. Reports from places outside, Belgrade indicate that the country accepts the disappearance of the Obrenovitch dynasty without regret. According to the best available information obtainable from the mass of contradictions, the crime was carried out by members of the Sixth Infantry, under the command of Colonels Mischieh and Machin. The latter is a brother-in-law of the Queen Draga and is Minister of Public Works in the new Cabinet. The selders appear to have fought their way into the palace, shootling down the aide decump on duty. Colonel Naumovica, although, according to another version, the King shot Naumovics because he opened the gale to his assailants, thereby creating a suspicion of his canniwance. Some of the other persons killed were surprised in their houses simultaneously with the attack on the palace. The remains of King Alexander will probably he buried at the convent at Rakova. The other bodies will be interred in the local cemetery.

BERLIN, June 11.—A dispatch from Semilin, Hungary, to the National Zeltings, gives an interesting version of the weents at Belgrade. It says:

"A party of officers proceeded to the palace by previous arrangement with General Ljubasivkovics, and cailed upon King Alexander to abdicate in favor of Prince Peter Karageorgevitch. The King refused, and shot Colonel Naumvics, who made the proposal. The other officers thereupon summoned the war minister, General Pavlovitch, and Tuporovies, the minister of the interior, and shot the King and Queen and Petrovics, one of the King's aide-de-camps, and other loyal officers. The leader of the actual assailants was Lieutenant-Colonel, Mischieh, who himself murdered the Queen. The latter, together with her brother and sisters, was struck down with an axe. The Queen died immediately. The King lived a few minutes.

"The immediate cause of the rovolution was the return to Belgrade of Lieutenant Lungievitza, brother of the Queen, and a supposed candiate for the throne. "The surviving ministers have been arrested.

"The obsequies of the King and Queen will be held June 14th.

"A festal filumination of Belgrade is projected for this evening."

The dispatch concludes with stating that intense joy prevails at Belgrade.

The German government cannot be said to have taken up any attitude as yet regarding the provincial administration of Servia. Horror was expressed at the Foreign Office at the bloody coup detat. The immediate feeling is one of antagonism to the new ministry, and there is an indisposition to make its path easy. The

The immediate feeling is one of antagonism to the new ministry, and there is an indisposition to make its path easy. The Foreign Office for the present is simply waiting full information from its legation at Belgrade, and is also sounding the other chancellories.

The fact that the late King Alexander was not allied to any European reigning family is regarded as simplifying the fituation.

PLANNED WEEKS AGO

Feeling for Weeks.

(By Associated Press.)
VIENNA. June 11.—Dispatches from Belgrade say that since the late King Alexander's last suspension of the Servion Constitution the army has been animated by hostile feelings toward both the King and Queen.

The revolution was planned weeks ago. Secret committees were organized in the country, and worked in co-operation with the army. The leaders of the revolution are said to have been the new ministers of instice and finance, respectively M. Schiokovics and M. Veilkovics, and the Sixth Regiment of Infantry, garrisoning Beigrade, was designated to carry out the plot. It was originally intended that the plot should be executed later, but fears that the new Servian parliament would settle the question of the auccession to the throne hastened matters. Colonel Naumovics, the adjutant of the King, was entrusted with the execution of the plan. While on duty at 11 o'clock last night Naumovics burst in the door leading to the sleeping apartments of the royal couple with a bomb and then entered accompanied by Mischies and a number of junior officers. Freviously the palace guard had been overpowered and its commander, Captain Parajowics, was killed. Naumovics presented to the King a form of abdication for his signature. The document contained the statement that by marrying a "public prostitute" the King has answer was to draw a revolver and killed Naumovics the must abdicate. The King's answer was to draw a revolver and killed Naumovics to the succession.

Mischles then picked up the document and presented it again, and, the King, who perceived his danger, fled with

MENACE TO PEACE.

A French government official said:
"The bloody deed of last night is the most pressing mediace to the general peace of Europe that has happened in many

Queen Draga, to the palace roof, both being in their night-clothes. The officers followed, confluously firing and ultimately shot down the royal couple. Major Laka Lazarewics, who had been under the King's displeasure for two years, said to have fired the shot which actually killed the King.

At about 2 o'clock this morning Queen Draga's two brothers were shot at their homes, as well as Premier Markovitch and his brother-in-law, M. Milkovitz, the minister of the Interior. M. Tudorovies, and-his daughter, and the war minister, General Paviovitch.

While these events were proceeding at the palace, the streets of the city were already occupied by soidlers and an armed force surrounded the royal residence. The horses and guns of the batteries of artillery were all decorated with evergreens, as for a festival. The soidlers discarded the badge of King Alexander from their helmets.

An attempt was made to support the dynasty by the commander of the Danube division, who tried to march the Eighth Regiment of Infantry into the city to help the late King, but he was opposed by a body of troops under Colonel Gagowits. In the fight which ensued both the officers mentioned were killed.

What purports to be an official explanation of the tragedy was issued at Belgride during the day. It says:

"After dinner on Wednesday evening the King and Queen, with some of their relatives and several ministers, sat on the belcony of the palace. Suddenly the King demanded that Queen Draga leave the country. She refused and was supported by some of the ministers, when the King and Queen, with some of their relatives and several ministers, sat on the belcony of the palace. Suddenly the King demanded that Queen Draga leave the country. She refused and was supported by some of the ministers, when the King and Gueen were killed.

A dispatch received by the, wastrian Fereign Office this afternoon announced that the Servian Parlianners is the throne of Servia he was desirous of living amicably with Austria.

The question of Austria's intervention most pressing malace to the general peter of Europe that has happened in many years."

Prince Bodijar Karagoorgevitch, a cousin of the proclaimed King, is a resident of Paris. He told a Temps reporter that he did not hesitate to declare that he considered Queen Draga to have been the cause of the assassinations. On hecoming Queen she made herself first feared and then hated. She brutally revenged herself for the slightest offeness and pitilessly crushed high or low who had the misfortune to displease her.

The late King was only a tool in the hands of this bold, dominating woman. He was so weak minded that a doctor who attended him at Blarritz declared that if he had been a Fronchman he would have been declared intellectually unfit for military service.

Prince Bodijar added:

"The youthful soverign was the victim of the merited unpopularity of his consort. He could not resist her. His culiable weakness destroyed him. Moreover. Whose draws the sword shall perish by the sword. My family has been tried to the utmost. My grandfather was assassinated and seventeen of my relatives have been executed without trial, while others were tortured. Such crimes must be explated sooner or later."

Border to Wire.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—News of the assassination of the King and Queen of Servia and the proclaiming of Peter Karagoergevitch King, reached teh State Department to-day in a cablegram from the United State vice-consul, General Christian Voegell, at Belgrade. This cablegram is dated Zineny, an Austrian town, six miles across the border, where it was necessary for Mr. Voegell to go to get it off. It fies the hour of the revolution at 2 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Wilson, secretary of legation, at Athens, also cabled the n. ss, saying that the "minister left for Belgrade Tuesday."

GENDVA, SWITZERLAND, June 11.—
Prince Peter Kurageorgevitch, who has been living her content on time, appeared to be greatly to disloid at the news from Beigrade, which, he said, he had only learned throught a private telegram from Vienna.

WERE MANY CAUSES

King Alexander Was Very Unpopular With Masses.

Prince Peter Karageorgevitch, who has been living here for some time, appeared to be greatly astonished at the news from Belgrade, which, he said, he had only learned throught a private telegram from Vienna.

Prince Peter Karageorgevitch, lives in a modest apartment on the Rue de la Bellotte. Recently he has been in constant communication with Servian politiciant, having been several times to Vienna, much has also visited St. Petersburg, where his son is at selso.

Over the telephoe this afternoon the Prince Said to the Associated Press correspondent he had not yet received any official notice regarding the eyents which took place in Belgrade last night. He did not eyen know whether it was true that he had been proclaimed King, and he said he did not know when or whether would start for Belgrade. The now ministry, he added, included soveral of his adherents, but he was unable to speak definitely on this subject, as a number of names had been mutilated in telegraphic transmission.

Through the Russian consul an intimate triend of Prince Karageorgevitch, the Associated Press correspondent this evening obtained the following statement:

"Prince Karageorgevitch declares himself innocent of any knowledge of the tragedy at Belgrade. He said that through his grandfather, he undoubtedly had the best right to the Servian throne and intended taking it if possible for the sake of his son, but he expected to meet with great difficulties and hoped for assistance from Austria."

From other sources it is learned that the Prince will leave secretly on Priday morning for Vienna, whence he will proceed to Belgrade.

Russian money was undoubtedly used in the revolution, which, according to general belief, was planned here. It is received that when the Austrian Empress, was murdered by the anarchist Luchen, was murdered by the anarchist Luchen,

YESTERDAY'S DOWNPOUR.

Yesterday the downpour was repeated, but earlier in the day and minus the lightning and the thunder. About 3:20 o'clock in the afternoon solid straight streams of water, or so they appeared, began to pour down. So thick were they packed together that at times the vision was all but completely obscured. Sudden gusts of wind bent the trees and sant spiral sheets of water flying through the air. It looked for the nonce sa if a genuine wild western flood would ensue. By 4:30 o'clock the hardest of the hard and had fallen. It came down more or less heavily for some time after that, and then stopped, and the weather man predicted fair weather for to-day. A decided drop in the temperature had changed the atmosphers from a sultriness nearly stifling to a delightful and refreshing cool. The weather bureau submitted its report, and showed that during the twenty-four hours preceding over two inches of rain had fallen hers. Anxious eyes were kept on the river, but the rise here was not sufficient to warrant any apprehension. The storm appeared local, or, at least, below Richmond, where it could not affect the river at this point. Between Keysville and Drako's Branch there occurred the hardest rain in many years. Columbia kept calm and collected, and in view of this fact there is no good reason to expect flood water. No damage to railway tracks, except in the case of the Southern, aiready referred to, was reported.

THE LOCOMOTIVE WORKS.

Throughout Henrice, however, where the precipitation was extremely heavy, creeks shot up with a bound. Several bridges were washed away. The one which connects Barton Heights with the Second Street road was turned over. Others on the boulevard also suffered, and the big now culvert there was washed away.
